Telephone. Jasper 59-M

One thing at a time
And that done well,
Is a very good rule,
As many can tell.

These sunshiny days make the farmers rejoice.

L. T. Kilgore, of Whitwell, was here Tuesday. He called on the News and ordered the paper sent to him for six months.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cushman and baby came out from Chattanooga Saturday night to visit Mrs. Cushman's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Haynes.

Mrs. Flora O. Pearson, a former resident of Sequachee, but now located at 232 Walnut St., Springfield, Mass., order the News sent to her for one year.

Miss Elizabeth Deakins went to So. Pittsburg Saturday to attend the funeral of the infant of Mr. and Mrs. Blue, Mrs. Blue being a cousin of Miss Deakins.

Several from here attended the funeral of Haywood Simpson at Rosewood Sunday afternoon, among them being Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Minor and Misses Lou and Jennie Harris.

Uncle Jesse Coppinger, of Coppinger Cove, was here Thursday to fix up matters financially with the editor with Coppinger Core grown sausage at 33¢ per lb. He paid up arrears, a year in advance, and a half year for his daughter, Mrs. B. C. Lee, Louisville, Ky., and then got some change besides, and the editor didn't have so much sausage, either. We wanted to trade the office for his farm, but he haughtily said—"nit." These farmers are making money hand over fist these good old democratic times.

New Rural Route Planned

Postmaster Curtis is contemplating asking for the establishment of a rural route from this place to go out to the lumber camps on the mountain and return via Dixon Cove. It is estimated besides the regular inhabitants that there will be over 150 people on the mountain by spring from outside points.

Wants To Hear From Old Home

Mrs. O. H. Lusk, Straw Plains, Tenn., orders the News sent to her on the doublequick, Tolley Burnett, her brother, coming in hot-foot yesterday evening to order it sent to her. She was formerly Miss Zuelia Burnett, and wants to hear from the old home town.

Good Business at Ketner's Mill

Al Ketner, of Ketner Bros. millers and lumber manufacturers, of the beautiful vicinity known as Ketner's Mill was here yesterday evening and ordered the News sent to the firm for one year. He reports business good in both milling and lumber departments, which we are glad to hear.

Wear Sunflower in France.

The fame of the sunflower as the emblem of Kansas has penetrated France, and is the object of much appreciation on the part of the French people, according to word received at Camp Funston. A letter from a member of the Eighth division states that the members of the division all wear a big sunflower on an arm band as a distinguishing emblem of the division, which received its training here. The division, the first to be trained at Camp Funston, was trained by Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood.

FOUND HIS PLACE

Youngster Who Made Good as Food Producer.

Factory Hand Lost, but a Massachusetts Community Is Richer Because Boy Decided That He Would Take to Gardening.

Four years ago a garden-club boy in Massachusetts faced what would have seemed even to an adult a hard problem. Born in Italy, but thoroughly inculcated with American ideas of the necessity of education, James was told by his father while in the eighth grade that no longer could he be kept in school. His future path was to lie toward the near-by factory.

Believing, because of his garden-club experience under the auspices of the local leader for the United States department of agriculture, that he could earn as much by potato raising outside of school hours as he could in a factory by devoting his whole time, he finally obtained permission from his father to try it. So successful was he that his father was willing he should enter the ninth grade in the fall.

The next spring the superintendent let him have land to use for a large garden. To ten boys he had selected from the upper grammar grades he made the proposition to pay so much an hour and to give each a garden plot. The following excellent advice he offered them in addition: "If you are going to quit, quit now while it is cool and not when it is hot next August."

By fall he had decided that enough could be earned in the summers to enable him to attend high school and the agricultural college later. Now a junior in high school, he has a good-sized hothouse under lease, where he raises cabbage, cauliflower and tomato plants; he owns an auto truck to handle his produce; has a bank account and pays his bills by check, and owns at least one government bond.

With all the school and business cares, he still has time to look after the school welfare of his younger brothers and sisters, visiting their teachers and watching their progress. A factory hand, probably only a mediocre one, has been lost, but a good food producer has been gained through the vision given James by his boy's agricultural club leader.

Powerful Explosive.

The liquid oxygen explosive appears, from notices in the German technical press, to have been developed as a mining substitute for nitric explosives, which had been all taken for military purposes. It was discovered a score of years ago that when a carbonaceous material is saturated with liquid oxygen and ignited by a fuse or electricity, the carbon and oxygen combine violently, and successful trials were made in blasting. This explosive, called "oxylquid," is now doing duty quite extensively in breaking up coal and potash. In seeking a combustible, experiments were made with a mixture of gasoline and infusorial earth, pulverized cork, dry wood pulp and dried peat, but the best results were obtained with lampblack. This is placed in a suitable cartridge. In the preferred method the filled cartridge is immersed for half an hour in liquid oxygen in a special container, and then, with an ignition system quickly attached, is placed in the borehole, tamped and exploded. The effects are nearly equal to those from the same weight of dynamite. The serious disadvantage of the method is the necessity of liquefying the oxygen at the place where used; but a very great advantage is safety in transportation, and especially complete lack of danger from unexploded cartridges. The oxygen evaporates in about ten minutes, leaving simply inert lampblack.

Why Suffer?

Mrs. J. A. Cox, of Alderson, W. Va., writes: "My daughter... suffered terribly. She could not turn in bed... the doctors gave her up, and we brought her home to die. She had suffered so much at... time. Having heard of Cardui, we got it for her."

CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

"In a few days, she began to improve," Mrs. Cox continues, "and had no trouble at... Cardui cured her, and we sing its praises everywhere." We receive many thousands of similar letters every year, telling of the good Cardui has done for women who suffer from complaints so common to their sex. It should do you good, too. Try Cardui.

WORKERS BUSY ON PLANS FOR VICTORY LOAN NEXT SPRING

"Let's Finish the Job," Will Be Appeal to Subscribers and Volunteers in Last Bond Campaign.

Atlanta.—Forces are being lined up throughout the country to put over America's fifth war loan—the last the public will be called upon to absorb—the early part of April.

The decision of the Treasury Department to designate the new bond issue as the "Victory Liberty Loan," seems to be meeting with general favor. The name carries the thought of the victory of America and her allies on the battlefields of France for the cause of freedom and democracy.

The amount of the loan will be determined by the needs of the Treasury Department when the issue is authorized. It is believed, however, it will be about six billion dollars—the same as the Fourth Liberty Loan. The interest rate of the securities has not been decided but assurances have been given that it will be attractive from the investor's point of view.

"Let's finish the job" is the appeal made by officials of the War Loan organization to purchasers of bonds of the previous issues and to workers. The county organizations are being reassembled for the last great effort.

In a statement just made public, Governor Joseph A. McCord, of the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta, chairman of the Sixth District War Loan Organization, emphasizes the need of another loan.

"It was not alone the achievement of our soldiers in breaking the Hindenburg line that made Germany beg for an armistice though I would not rob the fighters of any of the glory," he said. "It was the gigantic scale of preparation in America, behind the army; our huge production of arms, ammunition and ships; our greater army in training behind the firing line, that convinced Germany it was useless to fight any longer."

"By going into it as we did, a vast sum was spent, but it brought a saving in the lives of thousands of our young men. Critics have charged the Government with 'extravagance' in handling war contracts. It was this determination to 'win at any cost' that brought the Hun to his knees. It was economy, not only in lives but in money we would have been compelled to spend had the war lasted another year or two years longer."

The obligations now outstanding for this enormous production of material must be met. That is the reason it is necessary to raise more money through bonds even though the armistice has been signed. American soldiers still are in Europe and until they have been brought back and the bills paid, the public's duty to the Government will not be fulfilled—the job will not be finished.

SPECULATORS TRY TO GRAB LIBERTY BONDS AT BARGAIN

People Urged Not to Sell Government Securities at Sacrifice or Exchange Them For Questionable Paper.

Atlanta.—Reports are reaching the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta that many owners of Liberty Bonds are selling them at prices lower than their market value.

Investigations show that shrewd speculators are active in trying to induce people to part with their Government securities. Many of them are offering to take Liberty Bonds in exchange for some other so-called "security" which promises a higher rate of interest than Liberty Bonds. It is pointed out by Treasury officials that Liberty Bonds are worth every dollar paid for them. One evidence of their value is the eagerness of the speculator to get possession of them. He knows what they are worth. Their Liberty Bond owner does not know the value of the "stock" or "bond" he is offered in exchange for his Government security.

Liberty Bonds have back of them the entire resources of the United States which makes them worth their face value. The person who exchanges them for some other kind of paper risks losing the money invested in his bond as well as the interest.

Other people are selling their bonds because they feel that "the war's over" and they are no longer obligated to hold them. Although fighting has ceased, the war will not be over until the peace treaty is signed and our soldiers are home. A Liberty Bond is a certificate of service and the person who sells them at a sacrifice is deserting the cause. He is reflecting on his own judgment and patriotism and surrendering an investment that never will fail to pay returns.

It is recognized that there are times when investors are compelled to seek relief from financial distress. Often their first impulse is to dispose of their Liberty Bonds.

In such cases the bank is the place to go. Banks will lend money on Liberty Bonds. The borrower is helped out of his difficulty and does not lose possession of his Government bond.

Dallas, Tex.

Special to the News.

I will attempt to pick up a few words to send to the News to let the world know Texas is still on the map, altho it looks now as if there was an effort being made to turn it into one big oil lake. All one can hear is oil talk, or see are oil ads or signs. We will be eating or drinking oil soon the way it is going. Everyone seems to be crazy. Go into a restaurant and the waiter will ask you if you want sugar and cream in your oil, or do you want your oilstock well done, straight up or scrambled.

I had a letter from my boy at Augusta, Ga., Camp Hancock, a few days ago, telling me that it would probably be the 15th of April or the 1st of May when he got home. That they were going to retain a guard of 500 for three months and he was one of the 500 selected. I guess it is just as well to accept the decision and make the best of it. Seems we are creatures of trouble and disappointment anyway, but I suppose those that have sons across the water are more disappointed when they don't get favorable news of them, but when they do get home and get the forty acres of land and a mule that our senate is supposed to furnish, all will be well. I wish the boys all the success one can, but don't put much confidence in Mr. Layne's theories and plans for government assistance.

We still have considerable flu here yet. Had such a warm, damp winter I suppose is why it hangs on so long. Amos Bracken, Jr., and two little boys have had a pretty hard spell of it, just now recovering. I was out to see them Wednesday. The father and one boy was able to sit up a little. The other boy was improving. With good care they will soon be all right. It is a sight to visit the four principal burying places and see the number of new-made graves. It makes one realize what a loss of life it has caused and what a dreadful disease it is, and how careful one should be with it, not to take a backset and contract a fever for it is most likely to prove fatal.

I was very much disappointed when I received my last paper, not to see any more letters from correspondents than there was. Hope the paper this week will be full of bright, newsy letters.

I am not very well this week. I got a fall Monday of this week that almost put me past going.

If I recover from the oil fever I will try it again next week, but one can't tell how it will terminate. Hope for the best and prepare for the worst, is a good rule to go by.

Good luck to all.

Lone Star.

Timber Work On Cumberland

Work in the timber on Cumberland Mountain on property of Marion Lumber & Coal Co., is progressing as fast as weather conditions permit. Several gangs are at work on contracts, and considerable logs and ties are being accumulated. The nearest gang cutting timber near here is the Turner boys, who are on a tract west of Point Wannalancet, the point of mountain above here. By error they got onto the Sequachee Town property lands and were stopped Monday from cutting, after having cut about 13,000 feet. They are making ties as well as cutting logs.

Three saw mills have been located and two are sawing every day, the lumber being stacked until the weather conditions get so as the mountain road can be used regularly for hauling. The mountain road is the only available passway up the mountain here for automobiles and heavy hauling under wet weather conditions is frowned upon by the management.

Over twenty-five teams will be put on in the spring to haul lumber from the mountain and there is a fine opening here for a first-class blacksmith.

One Service Star Changed to Gold

Mrs. H. W. Hix, who as Miss Thula Martin is well remembered as a very popular young lady of Sequatchie some fifteen years ago is now located at Detroit, Mich., where Mr. Hix is a valued employee of the Ford Motor Co., and is doing well. They have two children, girl of nine and a boy two years younger.

In writing to a friend here Mrs. Hix says, in speaking of her brothers, Will, Clarence and Frank Martin: "They are all 'over there' but we expect Frank home before summer. When last we heard from them they were well and happy, but our service flag of four stars which flies in our window had one blue star that has had to be changed to gold, for Harry's brother, Carter, was killed in action on October 7. He was on the Tusconia when it went down, but was rescued. Then was wounded on Aug. 4; went back into action the last week in September only to meet death a few days later. Of course we have been very sad over his untimely death, but feel proud that he gave his young life in such a grand and noble cause."
